

Oxford-Wolfson-Marriott-Graduate Scholarships 2021/22

Additional Information

The Oxford Wolfson Marriott Scholarships have been made possible by a donation to Wolfson College from the late Dr Francis Marriott, who was a University Lecturer and Fellow of Wolfson from 1970 until his death in 2012. Dr Marriott conducted research in the field of biomathematics, and taught statistics. The scholarships are part-funded by the Oxford Graduate Scholarship Matched Fund.

Eligible degree subjects

Wolfson will be offering Marriott Scholarships in the following subjects for 2021-22 entry:

- DPhil in Mathematics
- DPhil in Linguistics
- DPhil in Experimental Psychology
- DPhil in Condensed Matter Physics
- DPhil in Surgical Sciences
- DPhil in a qualifying AHRC funded course (AHRC Doctoral Training Partnership)

Value of award

The scholarship covers course fees (at the Home rate for DPhil applicants) and a grant for living costs (for full time students the grant will be least £15,285; part-time students will receive a proportional study support grant). The awards will be made in partnership with a number of departments, faculties and centres for doctoral training that may, exceptionally, enhance an award to bring it up to the overseas fee level.

Residence criteria

Scholarships are open to applicants who are ordinarily resident in normally be ordinarily resident in UK/ROI

How to apply

There is no separate application process. Applicants, whether internal or external, should apply to the University of Oxford under the standard procedures for graduate degrees for 2021-22. Applications must be made by the January deadline for your chosen course and all eligible applications will be considered. If there are two or more candidates of equal academic merit, priority will be given to the candidate who has listed Wolfson as their first choice college on the University application form. The successful scholar will become a member of Wolfson College for the duration of their studies.